EUROPEAN WINTER SCHOOL ON EDUCATION FOR DEMOCRACY IN THE DIGITAL AGE

Welcome to the European Winter School on Education for Democracy in the Digital Age scheduled to hold from Jan. 25 - 28, 2021. This four-day virtual conference is organized by the University of Kaiserslautern and the Institute of Didactics of Democracy at the University of Hannover in conjunction with Yerevan State University (Armenia), National Dragomanov Pedagogical University (Ukraine), and Georgian Institute of Public Affairs (Georgia).

This conference will include discussions on pedagogical methods, models, and historical transitions to democratic education, cross-sectoral challenges for democracy, as well as provide an avenue for participants to interface with each other and deliberate on some of the challenges of education in times of digital transformation.

For registration and further inquiry please contact
Mr. John O. Ashamu at olufemi.ashamu@sowi.uni-kl.de

After registration, you will receive an access link to the digital interface for the conference via email. On this interface, you will find the schedule, further information about the conference and the organizers as well as the entrance to the Zoom conference room.

Note:

Before you can access the interface, you must first register on the platform where the Winter School takes place:
